

Editorial.....

Dear valued readers,

Global believes in harmonious and all-round development of students through education, and we hope, there lies the true essence of educating human. Physical, mental, social, emotional and intellectual growth should go hand in hand to make today's child globally adjustable. Besides the pure academic curricula we provide the opportunity of being familiar with all dimensions of life. For this, classroom instruction, community service, leadership programme, guidance and counseling, field visits, exhibitions, volunteerism etc. are the regular packages of Global Collegiate School.

Among the various wings of Global Collegiate School, BIGUL, a monthly wall magazine, is a comprehensive and complementary forum to foster creative news, views, ideas and belief of our pupils. By this year, BIGUL magazine has been fifteen years' strong foundation for the spontaneous and ingenious overflow of our students' prospective horizons. The current volume is an epitome of all spares of life. Major themes of this volume include books, national hero, politics, life, language, parents, gender issue, locality and environment, time, natural resources, consumerism, health, disease etc. From the perspective of variety of themes and genres, it has been a true mosaic.

Reading through the lines of articles included in the issue opens the eyes and reading between the lines, in turn, takes you far beyond the tangible affairs of life. These materials in this sense constitute the roadmap of life to understand it in its truest sense. We hope our readers will enjoy the readings accordingly.

These present selections also include the competitive writings of our students of different levels. We hope rest of the participants in particular and all readers in general will greatly be benefitted from these selections.

Multiple heads are always better than the one or two. Despite our sincerity towards the originality and the opinion being transferred, we might have been proved to be novice. We request to take such flaws in humanitarian and constructive way.

We would like to utilize this very moment to congratulate our SEE graduates for their wonderful achievement, and wish for their golden future.
